

If this is pertaining to cell phones this is ridiculous that people have to pay to get their minutes wasted by people trying to force them to buy things. unless the company calling wants to pay for it this should not be allowed.